Alma Mater

Hail! Junior College!

School of our dreams.

May you guide us, stand beside us,

Through the night may your light guide our schemes.

First as Freshmen, then as Sophomores,

Dear to us you'll ever be!

Fountain of wisdom, our faith's in thee!

Hail Alma Mater, we'll loyal be!

Foreword

Go forth, the first edition of the GALLEON

Fill the hearts of all, both graduates and those who are to follow, with high ideals, in the hope that they may aspire to a life of virtue and goodness.

Dedication

WITH the publication of this annual, there has arisen among the graduates mingled feelings of joy and sorrow. Their happiness stems from an appreciation for the return of a vast number of the alumni of Junior College who have traveled the corners of the world fighting for that which is right and just. Their sorrow is felt for those alumni of the college who marched off to war never to return. It is with gratitude that we dedicate this, the first annual of the college, to the eighteen Gold Star Heroes who fought and died that others might enjoy the privileges they themselves will never experience.

Class History

We, the class of 1946, entered the halls of Palm Beach Junior College September 7, 1944, with the dignity becoming high school graduates of three months standing, but it took only a few hours to deflate our egos and convince us that our ignorance was showing. Our number, which was somewhat larger than it is now, included some member of that rare specie, man. Alas and alack! They, too, soon were drafted into the services and we were left, even as we are now, a class of girls!

To guide our faltering footsteps we were given a freshman sponser, Miss Frances Howell, who performed a remarkable job of keeping her charges in check. There were still others to guide us, for each girl was given a "Big Sister" who was one of those fabulous creatures called sophomores. They helped to "mother" us during our nursery days at Junior College and the sophomore class even gave a "kid party" for us, just to make the "infants" feel at home.

We were beginning to feel as if we really were something in the college circle when our big sisters turned traitors and made us come to school dressed in such a manner that even our families disowned us and our friends crossed the street to avoid meeting us. But although we complained vociferously, we had a wonderful time during that week and would not trade the memory for anything!

The year was filled with events: the Christmas dance, themes, the Advisory Board dance, chemistry experiments, the W. A. A. field day, and exams. We initiated a freshman edition of the BEACHCOMBER in hopes of starting a tradition. Then at the end of the year came the banquet and dance given in honor of the graduating class—and we were on our way to the top seats in the college.

Thus, on September 6, 1945, we became the dignified sophomores of Palm Beach Junior College, but it took some time for everyone to realize that we were there at last. Even the teachers could scarcely believe it. Yvonne Whiting was elected student body president and with the aid of Miss Marian F. Morse, things began to fall into place again.

Yes, we made life miserable for the freshmen, too, and in this manner enjoyed our sweet revenge, but it would have been still sweeter if we could have had the revenge on our own tormenters.

The year has seen the accomplishment of a great many things. We have enjoyed the many parties and dances given by all the organizations in the college, especially those given by the steadily increasing Esquire Club. The patio behind the SUB has been added. We have also initiated the drive to have an annual for the graduating class in place of the larger edition of the BEACHCOMBER.

Now, May 28, 1946, is the day of days! the dreams of caps, gowns and diplomas have become actualities, and we are left with many pleasant memories of the gay and happy times we have had at Junior College.

Last Will and Testament

{ STATE OF FLORIDA
{ COUNTY OF PALM BEACH

We, the Sophomore Class of 1946, being fully aware of the fact that our sojourn in Palm Beach Junior College is drawing to a close, and realizing that many things in our possession will be of little value to us henceforth; being possessed of sound mind and good health, do leave these valuable possessions to those who may benefit most by them. We do hereby make, declare, and publish this, our Last Will and Testament.

Section I. Article I. To the Faculty we will our appreciation for their many efforts in our behalf during the time we have been under their care and protection.

Section II. Article I. To the Freshmen, soon to be Sophomores, we leave all our privileges and dignity as Sophomores and hope that they will have as much fun as we had during the past two years.

Section III. I, Marianne Wooten, upon graduating from J. C. and going out into this great big 'ole beautiful world, will my black ballerinas to some returned G. I. in exchange for a pair of seven-league boots—'cause I aim to travel.

I, Dolly Rutlege, do hereby will and bequeath to Jeanne Wheatlev my poise and grace. May it always be a joy to her.

I, Doris Meebold, do hereby bequeath to Butler Russell, my ability to sleep in class with my eyes open and an intelligent (?) look on my face.

I, Yvonne Whiting, being²—instead of leaving to anybody, do hereby leave, period.

I, Dulcie Aud, in a fairly sane state of mind, do hereby will all my leisure time to Doris Phillips.

I, Shirley Bryan, in a now weakened state of mind, do will one lovely seat in Miss Crozier's room to any freshman who says, "I'm not taking English Literature next year!"

I, Mary Arnette, being in sound mind, will my Beautiful history tests to whoever is planning on taking that course next year.

I, Frances Mayhew, have nothing to leave—I need it all!

I, Evelyn Johnson, do hereby bequeath to Faye Johns my ability to attend all meetings and still have time for leisure and FUN.

I, Margaret Anderson, leave to Wanda Hamm my ability to pull boners in pinochle.

I, Pat Pole, will to Mary Rowley my ability to not miss a class throughout the year, and my bicycle that gets around so much.

I, Sara Arnette, will my expert ability at passing in bridge to anyone who doesn't play pinochle.

I, Cookie Meerdink, leave my ability to speak Spanish fluently and flowingly (?) to Winnie Clowe.

I, Jean Delburn, do hereby will and bequeath to Margaret Brewer my duties on food committees for her sophomore year.

I, Ann Josey, in my 'neurotic' state of mind, leave to any biology student, my famous Kallikak Family and hope that they get as big a "bang" out of it as I did.

I, Jean Hockett, joyfully bequeath unto next year's Co-Ed president, Florence Johnson, all the spiders, dirt, worries and grey hairs connected with the SUB.

I, Jacqueline Henry, will all my little freckles to Al Wells, Jr.

I, Earldine Watkins, being in a sane and normal state of mind, do hereby bequeath to Mr. Bishop, my ability to make subtle remarks and get away with them—sometimes!

I, Jiny Peters, do hereby will the deftness at floorboard pushing to anyone who has the honor of riding to school in Holme's taxi; and to Bob Grafton, I leave my ability to cook hot dogs at Esquire beach parties.

I, Anna Marie Bresnahan, do hereby leave all of my quitness to one Virginia Duxbury.

I, Juanita Clemens, do hereby will and bequeath all the hours I've spent writing themes to Irvin Griffin.

I, Blanchie Burgess, will my 35 per cent in trig to Martha Willard.

I, Sally Sentelle, in a rash state of mind, do hereby will my meekness, quitness, and poise (ha!) to one Douglas Holmes and also to Doug I bequeath my ability to play bridge instead of pinochle!

I, Virginia Cartwright, in a risqué frame of mind, do therefore, will to Scraggs, Bob Hilker, Mary Heischman and Jack Martin, all the hours I've spent watching floorshows, along with the bags under my eyes.

I, Mary Lynn Dailey, in a dither with the GALLEON, do hereby will my curly locks to T. W. Mills.

I, Bettye Alderman, leave to next year's Rat Court Chairman, the ability to "scare the devil" out of the Freshmen!

I, Julie Hoffman, will the right to find joy in doing good for others to Bernard Ferrari.

I, Jean King, do hereby will to Red Crowder my sailor breeches along with my silky, blonde hair.

I, Eva Mae Watkins, leave to Marianne McSheffrey, my three-to-five cups of coffee that I drink the night before every Psche test. May they be of more use in keeping her awake than they have to me.

I, Norma Eells, will the management of the concession to any eager Freshman.

Witnesses: Marianne Wooten, Nash Lloyd, Cookie Meerdink, Ginny Duxbury.

Chief Testator: Virginia Cartwright.

Co-Ed activities of the year included a series of lectures: "The Successful Marriage as a Minister Sees It," the Rev. Kenneth R. Clinton; "Personal Grooming," Mrs. Lucille Steel; and "The Successful Marriage as a Judge Sees It," Judge Richard P. Robbins.

Two round table discussions were held: "The Dinner Date," led by Jean Delburn, and "Being a Guest," with Virginia Cartwright as chairman.

The activities sponsored for the entire student body included a penny carnival held at the SUB, a hay ride to Boynton Beach, and an informal party at the Yacht Club as guests of the U.S.O. The annual tea for the graduating senior girls of Palm Beach High School was given by the Co-Eds during the last week of school.

The aim of the Co-Eds has been to cultivate friendship among all the girls of Palm Beach Junior College.

The activities of the first semester were a series of beach parties which ended on November 10, with the Esquire Dance. On December 19, the club sponsored a dance, the "Holiday Hustle," open to the general public. This was the largest dance of the year. The second semester rolled on with only a series of beach parties. The influx of G.I.'s at the beginning of the second semester has tripled the membership of the club.

The DELTA OMICRON CHAPTER began its first semester by pledging Margaret Anderson, Blanchie Burgess, and Dolly Rutledge. These girls were subsequently initiated into the fraternity.

March 29, 1946, the chapter presented Mr. Albert E. Idell, noted author of the best seller Centennial Summer, as guest assembly speaker. May 4 and 5 a house party at the home of Margaret Anderson, in Pahokee, was enjoyed by the members and the pledges, who were Winifred Clowe, Marcia Morgan, and Jeanne Wheatley.

The aims of the members of the fraternity have always been to foster friendship between its members and the rest of the student body and to elevate the scholastic standards of the Palm Beach Junior College.

In December of 1937 the PHI DA DI was organized by ten students of the Junior College to provide a social and service organization for the men of the student body.

From its original membership of ten, the organization has increased in number to include 69 men, of whom eight were lost in World War II.

During the war years of 1943 to 1946, the PHI DA DI was disbanded but in the spring of this year, when sufficient members had returned to civilian life, the organization was reestablished.

Following an election of temporary officers, regular meetings were called and new members were selected from the student body. The purpose was to make the PHI DA DI once more a representative organization of the men of the Junior College. Regular officers were elected from the new members and the PHI DA DI has now resumed its former position on the campus.

MISS LUCILLE TAYLOR

The Woman's Athletic Association has had a variety of interesting activities in 1945-46. The girls competed in two tournaments, one in ping-pong and the other in basketball. Many of the members profited by instruction in tennis under the guidance of Mr. Donald Henry. Several activities were sponsored for the entire student body: a bicycle ride organized for boys and girls alike was a real success in spite of a shower which overtook the cyclists toward the end of the evening. The Woman's Athletic Association also sponsored the Activity Day for the College which was held at DuBois' Camp. A program of active sports had been arranged and the whole student body enjoyed a care-free play day.

A WEEK END HOUSE PARTY TEN YEARS FROM NOW

By MARGE HARVEY

Hello! Imagine meetin' you here. Some house party Yvonne is having. Nice man, this Van Horn she married; understand he's one of the richest men in the country. Quite a few celebrities in the crowd; so we'll probably enjoy it even if we do stand around like country cousins.

See that girl standing there with all the men around her? That's Frances Mayhew. She's Miss America now, you know. Notice that hat she's wearing—that is if you can call that ball of puff a hat; at any rate that's one of Jackie Henry's creations. Jackie is in Paris now; she's one of the leading milliners of the world. Over there in the corner is Bettye Alderman; she now owns controlling stock in a utility company. Plenty of money back of that woman. She and Senator Hoffman—you remember Julie—are discussing the latest attempts at public ownership. Some person this Julie; managed to clean up California's politics.

Mary and Sara have just returned from a trip to the Orient. By the way, have you read their latest book about their travels? It's on the best-seller list now.

Wonder what kind of entertainment they have planned for us? There's the tennis match this afternoon with Jean Delburn playing for the national championship. Maybe they have managed to get tickets for Virginia Cartwright's new show. She's now the first lady of the theatre and is opening in a Noel Coward play. Have you noticed the group of dignified women standing by the window; don't you recognize them? Yes, I thought you would. After all, they're the leading religious educators in the nation. Margaret Anderson, Blanchie Burgess and Doris Meebold have done a lot of good; particularly during the depression.

Before I forget, let me tell you who I bumped into the other day in the children's department of Smith's. The former Evelyn Johnson was buying rompers for her last set of twins. Incidentally, Mary Lumpkin married a steel magnet, and Shirley Bryan married someone named Dowis and has four children. Sally Sentelle married that chiropractor and is now living in Mississippi. Dulcie Aud is married too, but she married a movie star, of all things! I suppose you know that Earldine Watkins married a New York banker—wonder if she will be here this evening. Her sister Eva is married to a French diplomat. Mary Lynn married the Stambaugh boy ten years ago and is now living in Cuba. It's a pity she couldn't be here. Some party this is; everybody and his brother is here. Did I tell you that Anna Bresnahan married a West Palm Beach boy? Well, she did.

See that tall pretty woman over there with the sandwich? That's the famous criminal lawyer, Dolly Rutlege. They told me a few minutes ago that she buys all her gowns from "Jean and Marianne." You know those two. Jean King and Marianne Wooten. They now have the most exclusive dress shop on Fifth Avenue. Course there were good at dress designing even in college.

It is a pity that Juanita Clemens couldn't be here this week-end, but she had to fly to Washington on secret business. I suppose you know that she is one of the foremost authorities on languages. There seems to be a bridge game on the terrace. Get your coffee and let's go out there. People used to think that Culbertson was the latest authority on bridge before Ann Josey wrote her book of bridge rules. Recognize those girls playing with Ann? They're Jean Hockett, organist at "The Little Church around the Corner"; Pat Pole, secretary to a brain surgeon; and Cookie Meerdink, laboratory technician. All have become exactly what they wanted to be. Norma Eells, the new television sensation, was here last week-end with Jiny Peters, the famous textile designer.

I suppose it's time to dress for dinner so I'll meet you later in the dining room. It's been fun chatting with you.

Alumni Association

The Palm Beach Junior College Alumni Association was organized July 20, 1944, with two main purposes. First, to form a society in which former PBJC students could continue or renew the happy associations of their years at PBJC and, second, to provide an organization of individuals vitally interested in the welfare of Palm Beach Junior College who would support their Alma Mater in attaining a place of lasting security in the community.

First officers elected were Mary Ann French, president; Annetta Kunkel, first vice president; Jean Ellis, second vice president; Florence Nasworthy, correspondence secretary; Louise Douglass, recording secretary; Deane Alice Hayes, treasurer. Miss Edna Wilson was chosen the Association's advisor.

Later, due to resignations, the following completed the year in these offices: Annella Kunkel, president; Marian Gibbs, first vice president; Sally Meebold, correspondence secretary.

During the first two years, girls comprised almost the entire membership since most of the boys were in service. In addition to the regular meetings, the Association held a large dinner at Wert's in March, 1945 and another in November at the Rainbow Room to honor the alumni who were on leave or recently discharged from service and a Christmas homecoming party at Harry John Grosser's in December.

The present officers are: John Worrell, president; Deane Alice Hayes, first vice president; Elizabeth Randolph, correspondence secretary; Hilda Percy, treasurer.
